FRACTIONAL COO & HEAD OF AI

JC Bonilla, PhD

Growth and operational scale through AI transformation

I help businesses scale by transforming how they operate, make decisions, and use AI. I combine COO accountability with AI and analytics depth to lead a focused operating transformation alongside your executive team.

When to bring me in Growth is stretching the operating model. Commercial workflows are slowing down. AI experiments need a business owner and a path into daily work.

Executive experience

Element451: led cross-functional operating transformation and AI portfolio governance as COO and Head of AI.
VaynerMedia: led global analytics practice expansion and established delivery and commercial operating standards.
DataKind: established portfolio intake, discovery, delivery, and governance practices for social impact analytics.

The 90-day mandate

Days 1–30: diagnose the constraint, establish a baseline, and agree the transformation charter.
Days 31–60: lead workflow redesign and activate a pilot or initial production capability.
Days 61–90: support adoption, review performance, and transfer ownership with a scaling roadmap.

How we work

One priority capability. An executive sponsor. A named internal owner. Agreed decision rights and implementation resources. Success measures and acceptance criteria defined before work begins.

Operational progress is measured against agreed indicators. Financial outcomes may take longer and are not guaranteed.
