I build and scale technology businesses by connecting business operations with product strategy and AI transformation. My experience spans zero-to-one company building, global team expansion, acquisition integration, and operating transformation.

Career and value creation

Element451

Business building through growth and exit | COO and Head of AI on return

Built the zero-to-one go-to-market, customer success, and account management foundations alongside product and AI capabilities. Returned as COO and Head of AI to lead operating transformation and support a $220M exit. The business achieved EBITDA profitability and 50%+ year-over-year growth.

Created value through the Enrollify acquisition, building a media and content brand platform to support ARR growth; the Encoura partnership, integrating approximately $3M in inorganic ARR; and the acquisition and integration of a Serbian engineering and technology firm to accelerate the roadmap, strengthen reliability, and expand feature depth.

VaynerX

Inaugural Global Chief Analytics Officer

Created and scaled the global analytics practice from 6 to 84 people across six offices, generating $13M in annual revenue.

DataKind

Global delivery at scale

Built a global data science delivery model supporting 300+ projects, with standardized intake, delivery, and feedback.
